

Get your teachers involved

A great way to get students involved is by having teachers talk to them.

Steps:

1. Write up

- Write a one page information blurb about Day of Pink and how teachers can be involved

2. Get Teachers

- Speak to teachers on how they can be involved (such as coming out and supporting Day of Pink events, by wearing pink themselves on the day and by talking to their students and educating them about discrimination)
- Have your teacher advisor approve the page you have drafted and have them distribute it to the faculty.
- Don't forget to include a way for the teachers to get in touch with you for more information (such as including when your group meets and a link to the Day of Pink website)